Additional Information

Particularities of patent protection in Liechtenstein

According to the treaty between Switzerland and Liechtenstein on Patent Protection (Patent Treaty) of December 22, 1978, Switzerland and Liechtenstein form a unified territory of protection for the purposes of patent law. Hence, a national patent applies to the united territory of Switzerland and Liechtenstein, and a European patent or a PCT application cannot designate separately one of the two.

The Swiss Federal Bureau of Intellectual Property is the only competent authority for all the administrative tasks and the Swiss legislation is applicable, but both Swiss and Liechtenstein authorities are competent for prosecution, for judging civil and criminal matters, and for executing civil and criminal judgments in patents proceeding.

Protection through SPCs is available.
